THESE ARE THE FACES OF '61

The faces of 360 students, 189 of which are boys and 171 are girls, take their place in the spotlight at F.H.S.

On the first day of school in September, new schedules, calling for seventy minute periods, were issued. Our faces looked bewildered as we tried to remember whether we were going to class "A" or "diagonal" Monday afternoon.

Faces glowed as sophomores and juniors sported new rings and sweaters. Seniors busied themselves with exchanging pictures, ordering name cards and invitations.

Anxiety filled the sports fan's faces as they attended the ballgames throughout the season, and those who attended the dances this spring saw dreamy faces gliding along the gym floor.

Watch the student's faces as we view the realms of F.H.S.

FACES COME AND FACES GO, SOME

At 3:10 p. m. students hurry home; but why the rush, kids?

When it's time to go home, the kids scramble to get to their cars or buses.

In cloudy, wintery weather it is still dark as late as 8:10 when school starts.

Karen Humphrey and Gloria Cook, who are "hoofing it," act as if it might be cold walking.

Gee, I wish I had a friend with a car to drive me to school!

Rinker and Floyd must beat the sun to get to school on time.

MOVE FAST, OTHERS SLOW

Librarian Stettner helps Carolyn Hook during her own study hall.

You don't think Miss Bowers will believe that, do you, Jim?

Eleven librarians do many jobs such as shelving books, checking books in and out, and tidying up the library.

After the senior class play "So Very Young", Karel Crowley gave a party for the cast and their dates at her home.

Keith Cooper and Lynnette Smith, student directors for the play, were responsible for the unseen necessities of the production.

"Quiet; pull the curtain; light the stage; you're on!"

Induction time is a serious time for Tri-Hi and Hi-Y kids.

FRANKTON STUDENTS HAVE THEIR SAD

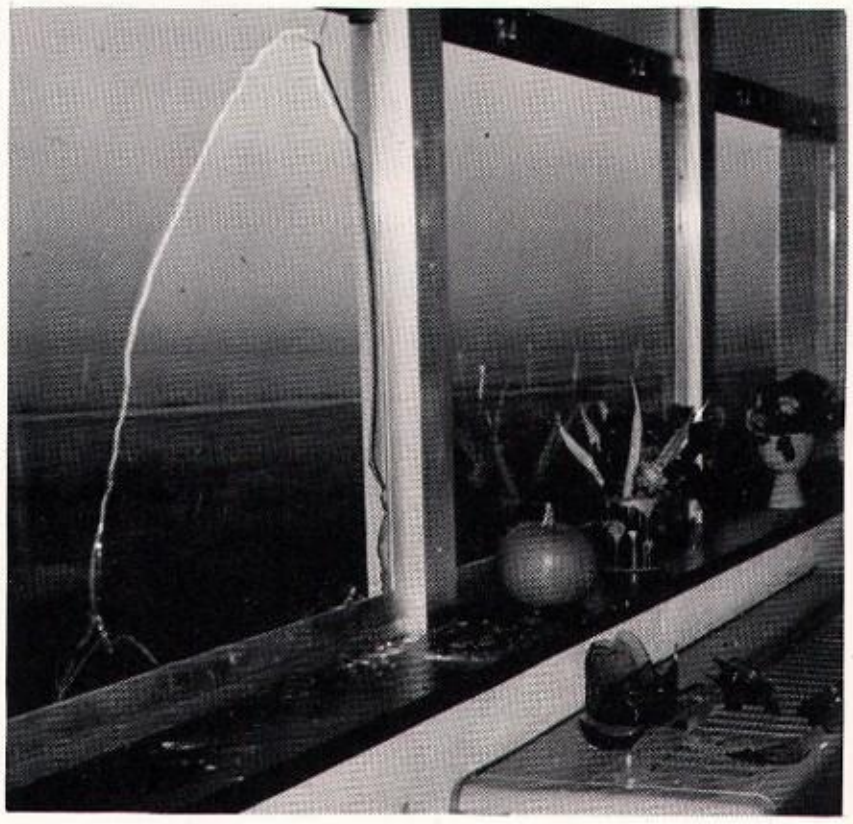
November 7, 1960, marked the beginning of two new organizations at F.H.S. Tri-Hi-Y girls and Hi-Y boys gathered in the gym for their induction into these national organizations.

Although many of the people visiting the high school never see the cooks, these ladies play a very important role in our active school days. Shown below is Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Waymire, and Mrs. Huth serving one of the nearly 35,000 meals that they prepare each school year.

While some students sit and talk or eat, the active boys manage to get their exercise. They take off their shoes, set up the nets, divide into teams, and they're ready to play volley-ball.

Please heap those plates high; they're still growing girls.

Noon means volley-ball and much fun to many boys at Frankton.



This window was the means by which burglers gained entrance.

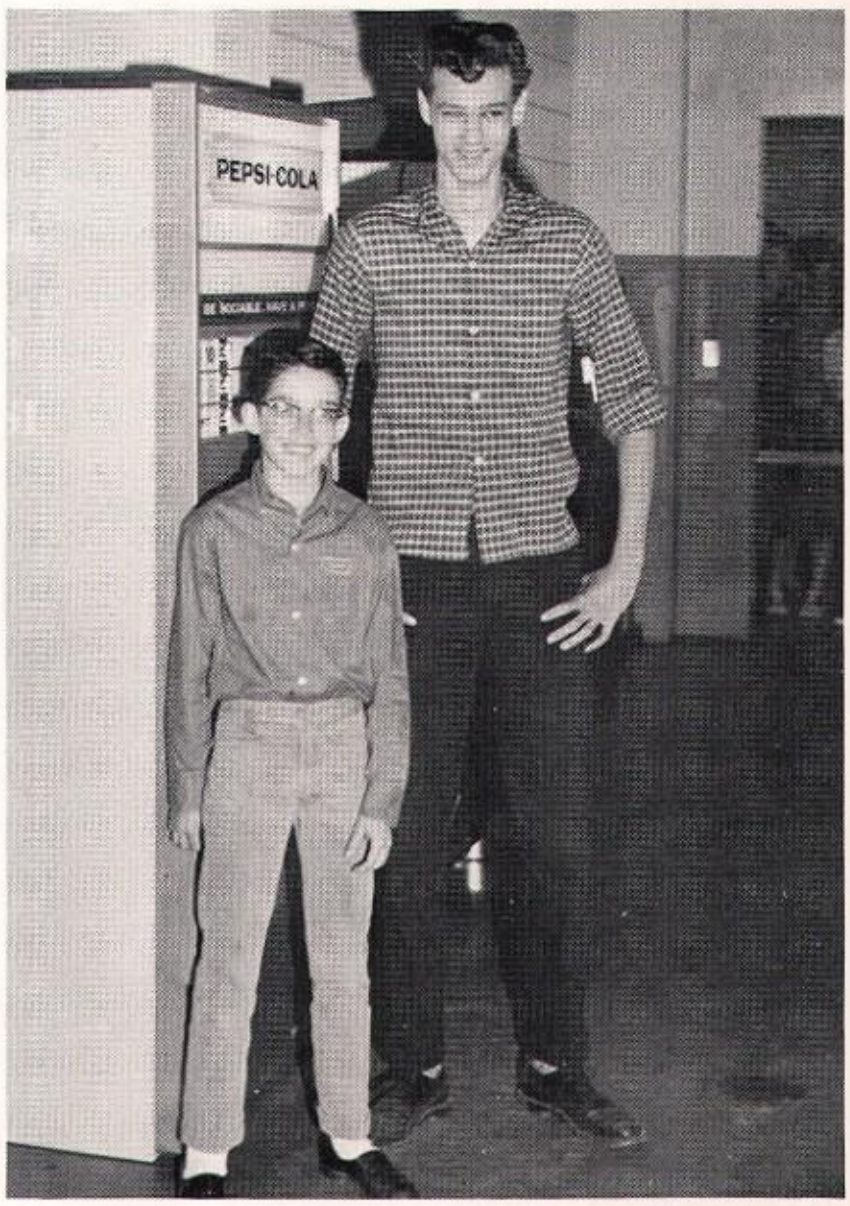
If you buy that, then you'll need a house to go with it.

AND SERIOUS MOMENTS, TOO

Students were warned not to touch anything in the building when they came one day in October and found that there had been a break-in the night before. From the art room, the two men (who were later caught) ransacked other rooms, apparently looking for money.

Some students go shopping in their spare time, but Wayne, Jim, and Bob just seem to be looking. They were caught looking at this weather vane in the local lumberyard.

Yes, our students have varying heights and weights, but most of us come five days a week to learn and have fun. Jerry Hutson towers over Terry Heaton.



It can truly be said that this is the long and short of it.

OUR GRADES AND RECORDS WILL BE

Pardon me, Alma, but there is something white showing.

There's often a bit of expression around report card time.

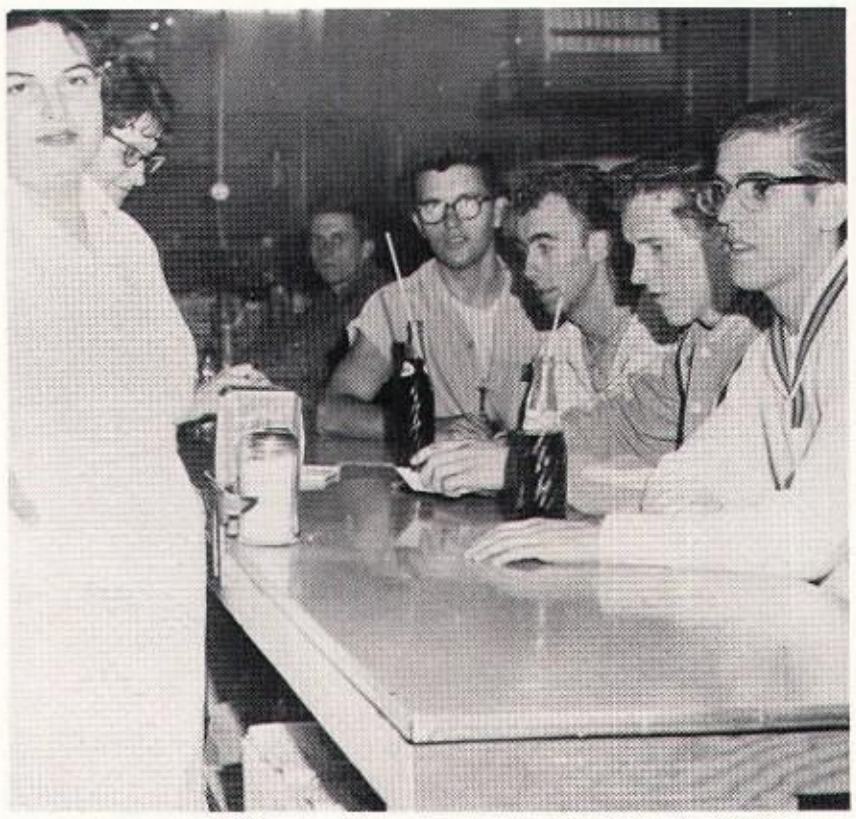
Both students and teachers give monologues and skits. Here Alma Friend and Mary Sheward perform.

The system of issuing of report cards was changed this year. Previously, students received one card which revealed all grades at one time. Now they are given an envelope containing report slips for each class, and their grades are put on the slips throughout the Wednesday following the close of the grading period.

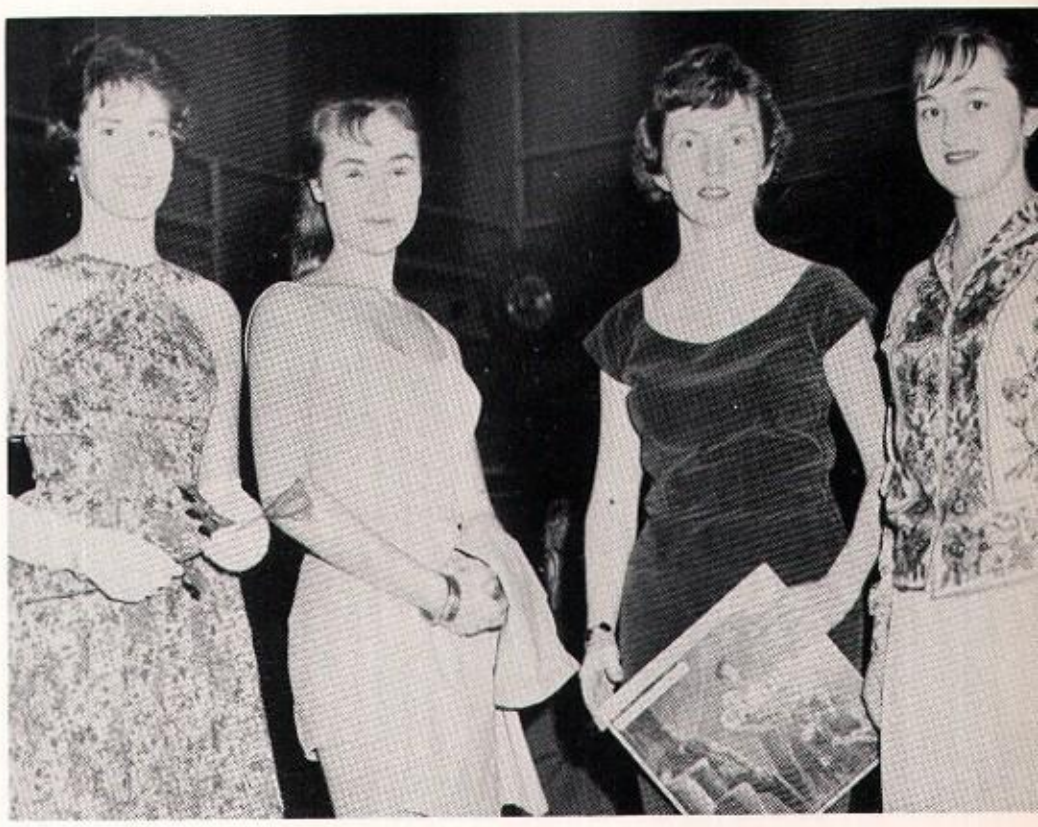
An educational aid added this year to the equipment of the health department is the vinyl plastic torso which shows the human muscles, nerves, organs, and some bones. Lornell Mock, girl's physical education and health teacher, shows open house visitors how she can use it in her classes.

The open house visitors seem to enjoy Mrs. Mock's description of the newly added torso.

REFERENCE FOR OUR FUTURE OCCUPATIONS



The "Big Four" take time out for a pepsi at the Chum 'n Chew.



Sandra Conklin seems cold in the outfit she is wearing.

Well, everyone has to eat, and our kids are no different. Pictured here is a group of boys at one of the local restaurants.

Elaine Mauck, Sandra Conklin, Marilyn Bowers (the home economics teacher), and Nancy Fields were selected to model clothing made from farm products at a county meeting with other girls from two other county schools.

Before the final production of a play, the cast must learn their lines although sometimes they just can't get out of the habit of cramming!

Tension builds as each awaits his cue during the senior class play, "So Very Young", October 14, 1960.

Please, get it clean, but, please, don't use scouring pads.

F.H.S.ER'S STUDY FOR CREDITS, WORK

Senior class members are scurrying around to get this car clean, so they can rush on to the next one. This car wash was one of their money making projects of the year.

If students don't have studies, they are free to browse through the library during their study hall. Here Ted McCord and Charlie Stettner are using the card catalogue for references.

Hall monitors are chosen from study halls for each period of the day. They have varied duties such as checking other students' passes, assisting visitors, and running errands for teachers.

Ted quit pushing! She probably was there first anyway.

Is there a date, the time, his destiny, or his name?

They're really not busy; they just hang around for cokes.

A good fruit weigher shouldn't have heavy hands, Wayne.

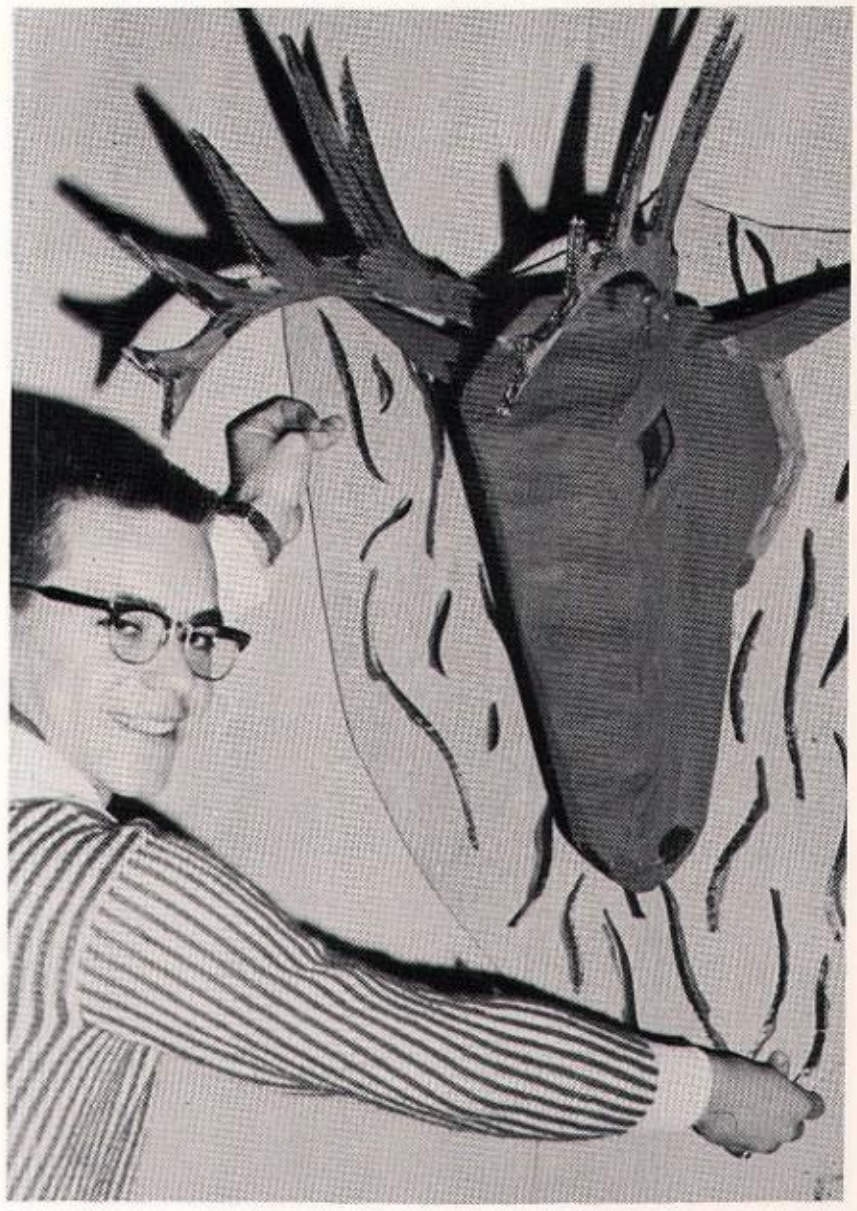
FOR MONEY, AND PLAY FOR FUN

Wayne Ousley, like many others, has a job after school. He works for a local grocer. Other students can be found working on farms, atop houses, shoveling snow, babysitting, and for other merchants.

Judy Blaylock and Doris Knight really don't have a job at the laundry, but since Judy is already at her father's place of business, Doris might as well come over and keep her company.

For some extra credit in his studies, Phil Rinker made this stag head and mounted it. It is made of cardboard and tape. After he put it together, he then gave it several coats of paint. The head was used as part of the set for a play.

But, Phil, you don't even have a hammer, nails, or a hook!



No, it's not a picture of our ancestors; these people relived the play "She Stoops to Conquer".

STUDENTS COMMUNICATE THROUGH

As one of the many projects tackled by English Literature IV students, nine seniors, gave the short version of Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer." They were directed by Lynnette Smith, another literature student. The cast included l. to r.-Janet Cain, Judy Blake, Keith Cooper, Darrell Brizendine, James Hays, Ronnie Swindell, Wayne Ousley. Seated- Helen Sayre and Karel Crowley.

David Hahn was found this year driving around the building on a tractor while seeding and fertilizing the lawn. They began discing, spading, and working down the lawn as soon as the new building was opened and they have been diligently plugging away at it ever since. This project is just one of the many done by the agriculture boys.

David Hahn plus four sacks of fertilizer equals one thing--a lawn.

Work fast girls. It's only three days until the paper comes out and you haven't finished your work.

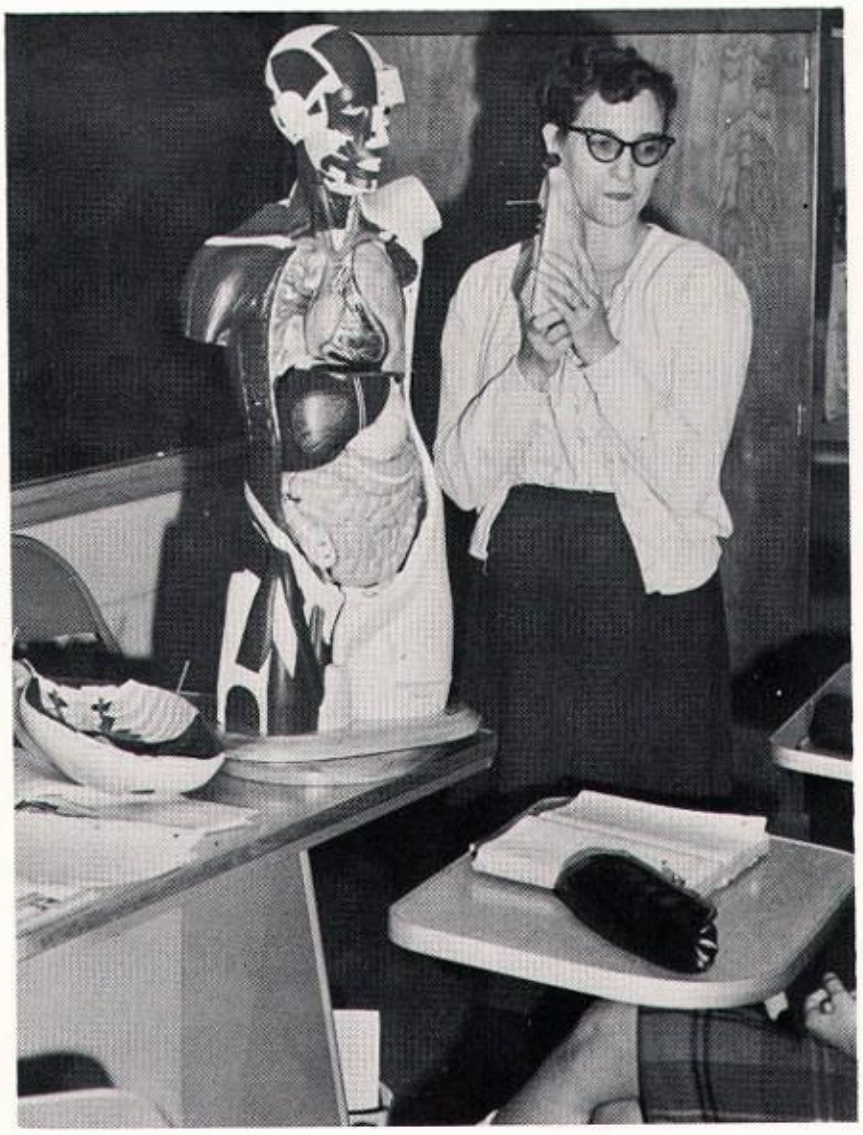
LANGUAGE STUDY AND MACHINES

Don't forget to blow away that mess. Mr. Harbit will get you!

The scope is a mechanical device to be found in the business education department. The girls taking office practice use it to "cut" advertising and covers for the Golden Eagle. It is a small table structure with a light under the top. When the light is turned on, it shines through a carbon on the top so that the girls can see each mark they make with the special pens they use.

Max Hoppel is seen as he has made a mistake in his first year typing class. He shows the correct way to erase an error by sliding the mistake away from the typewriter so the erasure won't fall into its delicate mechanism.

There are three classes of first year typists this year. These students learn the place of each key, how to use the touch system, and then they work for accuracy and speed.



As the scientist of today probe into the unknowns of zoology and analogy, so do we at F.H.S. examine many different forms of animal life and evaluate their importance in our plant and animal balanced world.

Our newest educational aid in the health department is the vinyl plastic torso which can be taken apart for separate organ study and used in both the health classes. The back panel shows all the nerves and muscles that help hold our bodies together.

Here Mrs. Mock, girl's physical education instructor, demonstrates to her class how they should take the lung from the body.

"Look, kids, I took off its chest and its lung came out".

FACES TURN TO ANIMAL LIFE IN HEALTH

Frog dissection seems to be fine and fun for Dallas Jent and the other boys, but most girls are like Marilyn Ryan. Either they hate to see the "poor little things" get hurt or they are afraid of them.

Upperclassmen seem to regret the fact that they didn't get to do this in class participation as the facilities in the other building were quite limited.

Dallas hurriedly dissects a frog as Marilyn looks on in silence.

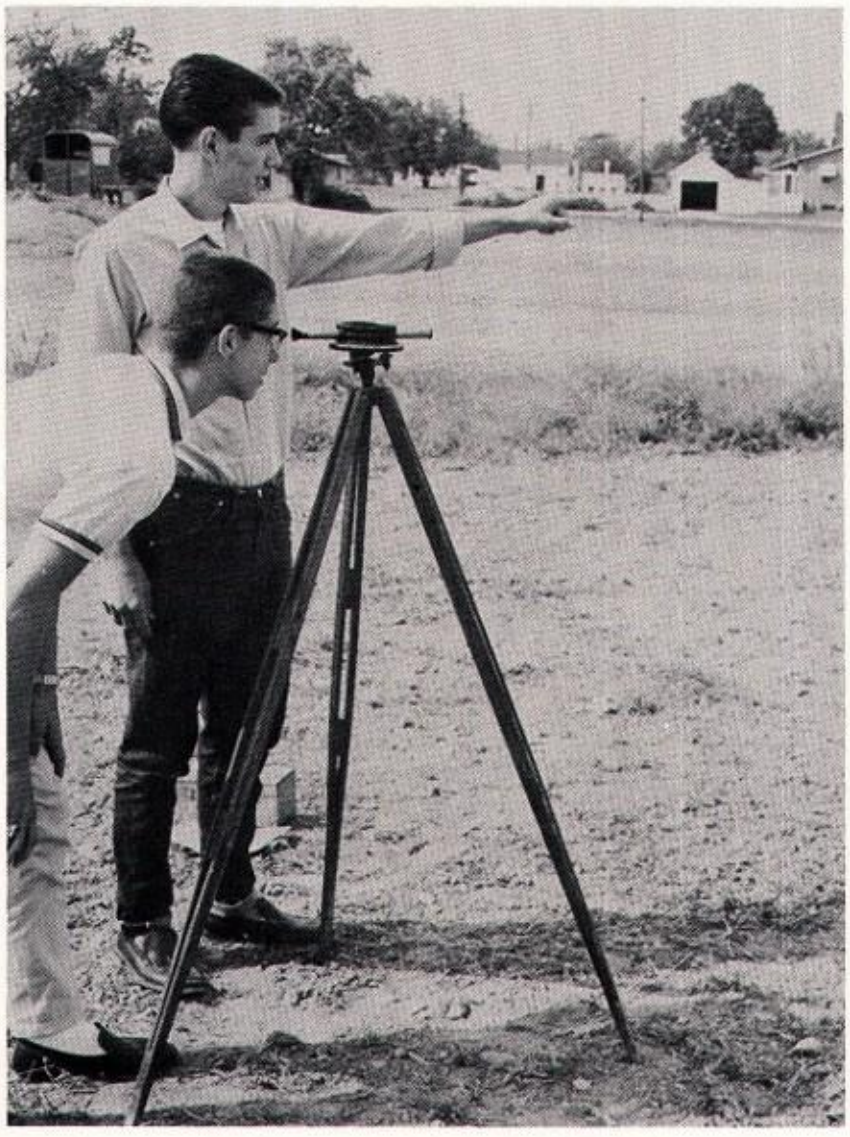
Freshmen girls who are enrolled in home economics learn the fundamentals of cooking, sewing, and serving.

As each girl advances in her studies and takes other years of this course, she naturally learns to do different things such as home nursing, child care, interior decorating, and advanced sewing and cooking.

In this picture Frances Brizendine and Jennie Frazier show open house visitors some of the dishes in their unit of the home economics room.

Does Jennie see a bug or something in that clean (?) glass?

BIOLOGY, HOME EC., AND AGRICULTURE



Ben Richwine and Bob Jarrett are not really watching girls. They're checking the rise and fall of the land after the ground in the area of the new parking lot had been disced. After Mr. Kerkhoff had taught the agriculture boys how to use the transit, he put them to the test by actually having them do the work.

"No, Ben", says Bob Jarrett, "I mean the one in the bikini.

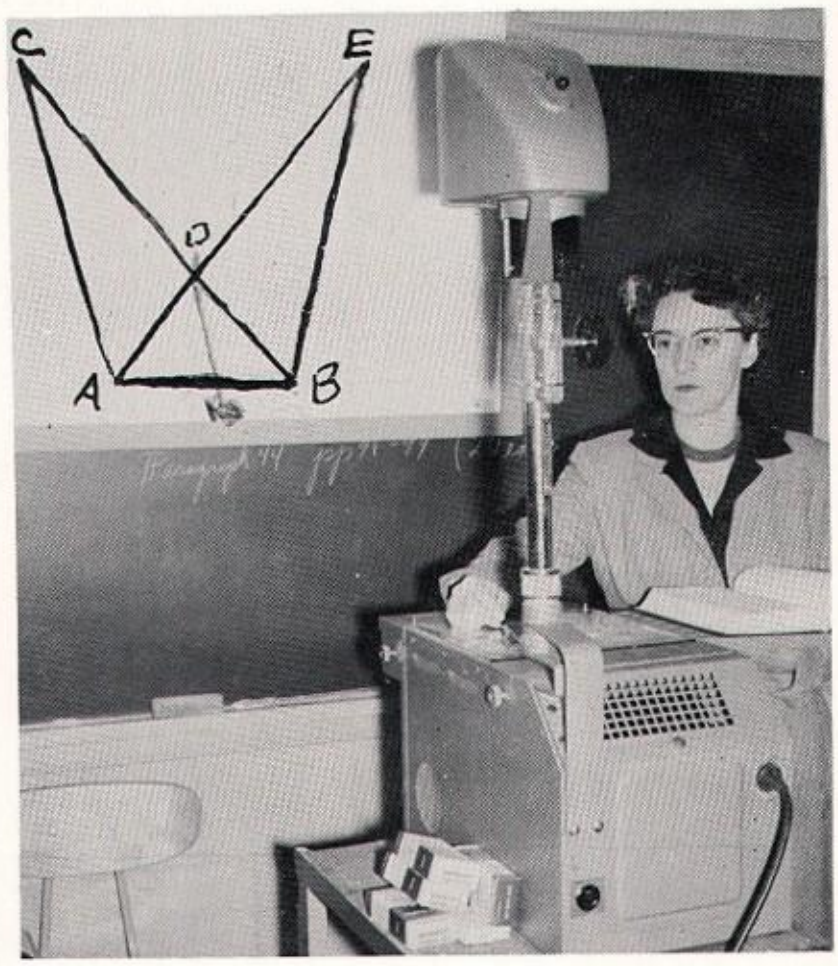
Fractional distillation takes lots of equipment, time, and effort. Stick with it until it's done, girls!

LEARNING TO USE MACHINERY IS FUN AND

An interesting part of the study of chemistry is the time when the students work in the lab. At the beginning of the year each student deposits some money on his equipment. If he doesn't break anything, he gets his money back, but that's pretty hard to do.

Students find it difficult to get into mischief--as if they would even consider it--in the math classes. The new master Vugraph makes teaching easier for Mrs. Waymire. She can face the students, do her writing on a cellophane plate, and project it on to a screen behind her while studying student reaction to the problem at hand.

Thanks to Title III Mrs. Waymire has an overhead projector.



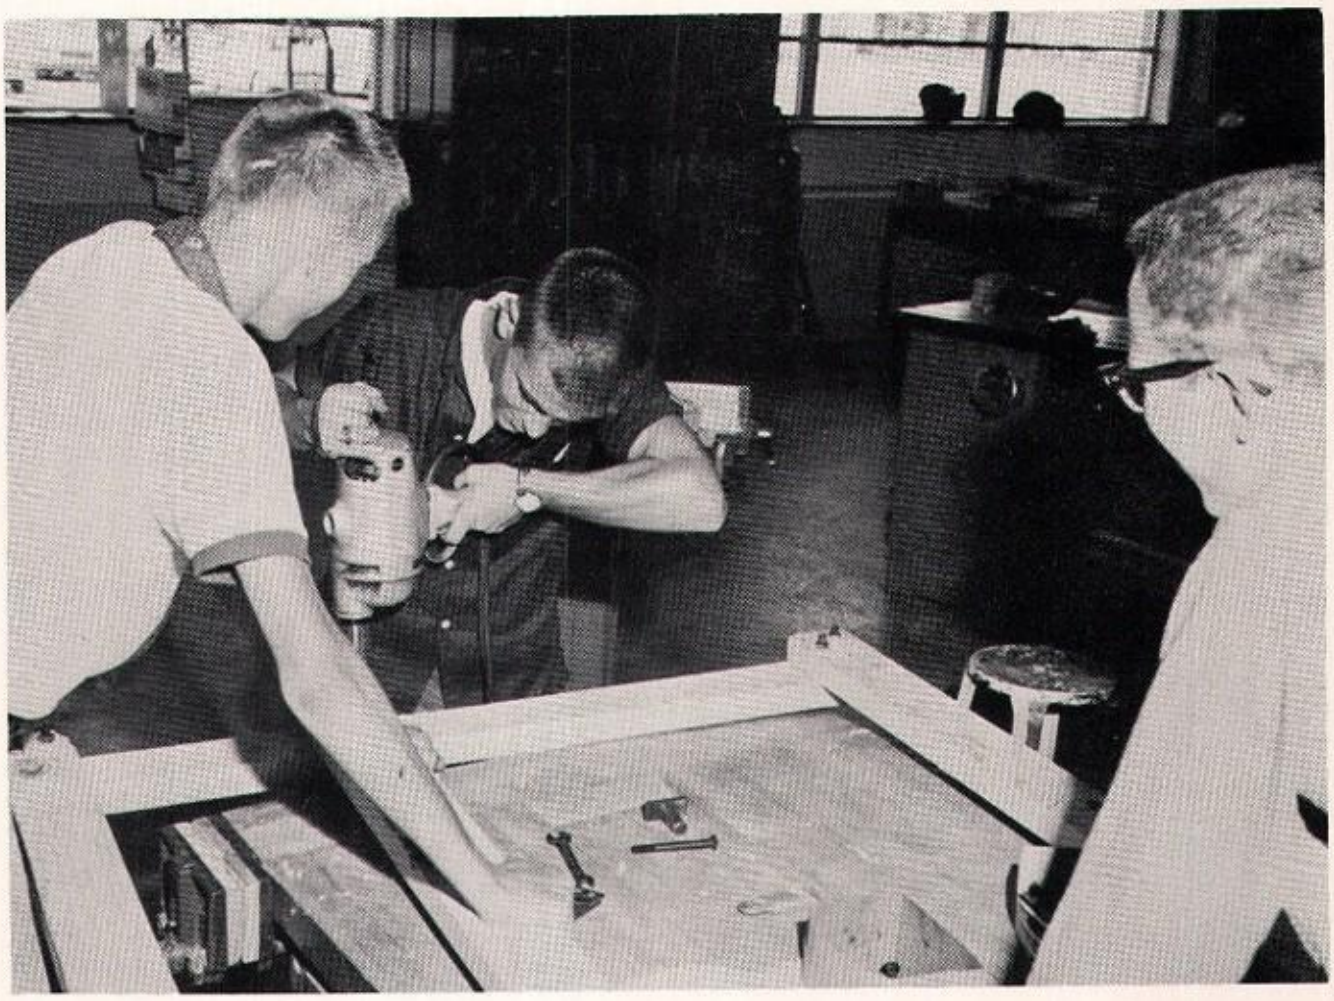
Driver Ed. students learn to obey traffic laws as well as find out how machinery helps them adapt themselves to the road.

Paul Davis is pictured with some of his students and their modern equipment which helps in the classroom study. Penny Leasure, Marilyn Ryan, Ludy Jarrell, Susan Updegraff, and Jill Peterson wait their turn to use the two machines on the table. The one is to test students' "tunnel vision" and the other, a driver's judgement of distance. Shirley Fletcher and Mr. Davis are using a scale of a road to show which car has the right of way.

Bill Hartsock, Jim Waymire, and Dick Bryan are drilling holes in this frame. The shop classes under Bill French's supervision also learn to work with metal.

REWARDING UNDER PROPER SUPERVISION

Now Bill is apparently steadying the board, and Jim is drilling the hole. But what's Dick doing?



If Bennie laces those moccasins up correctly maybe Jerry will help by trying them on for him.

CREATIVE THINKING AND ZEAL TO DO

Jerry Hutson and Bennie Davidson, seniors in the art class, are looking over the instructions for putting together Bennie's moccasins.

Besides working in crafts, Cathryn Lucas's art students, learn to use different styles of lettering and lettering brushes for posters, charcoal and chalk in pictures, and all about famous artists.

Included in one of the many speeches given by the speech students was Doug Hood's demonstration of how to make pizza.

Other requirements for the course were speeches of introduction, explanation and presentations of personal views.

A little sauce, a little cheese, add some meat, bake twenty-five minutes and presto ---pizza!

Tom Heady, a future voter, practices on the sample voting machine during November elections.

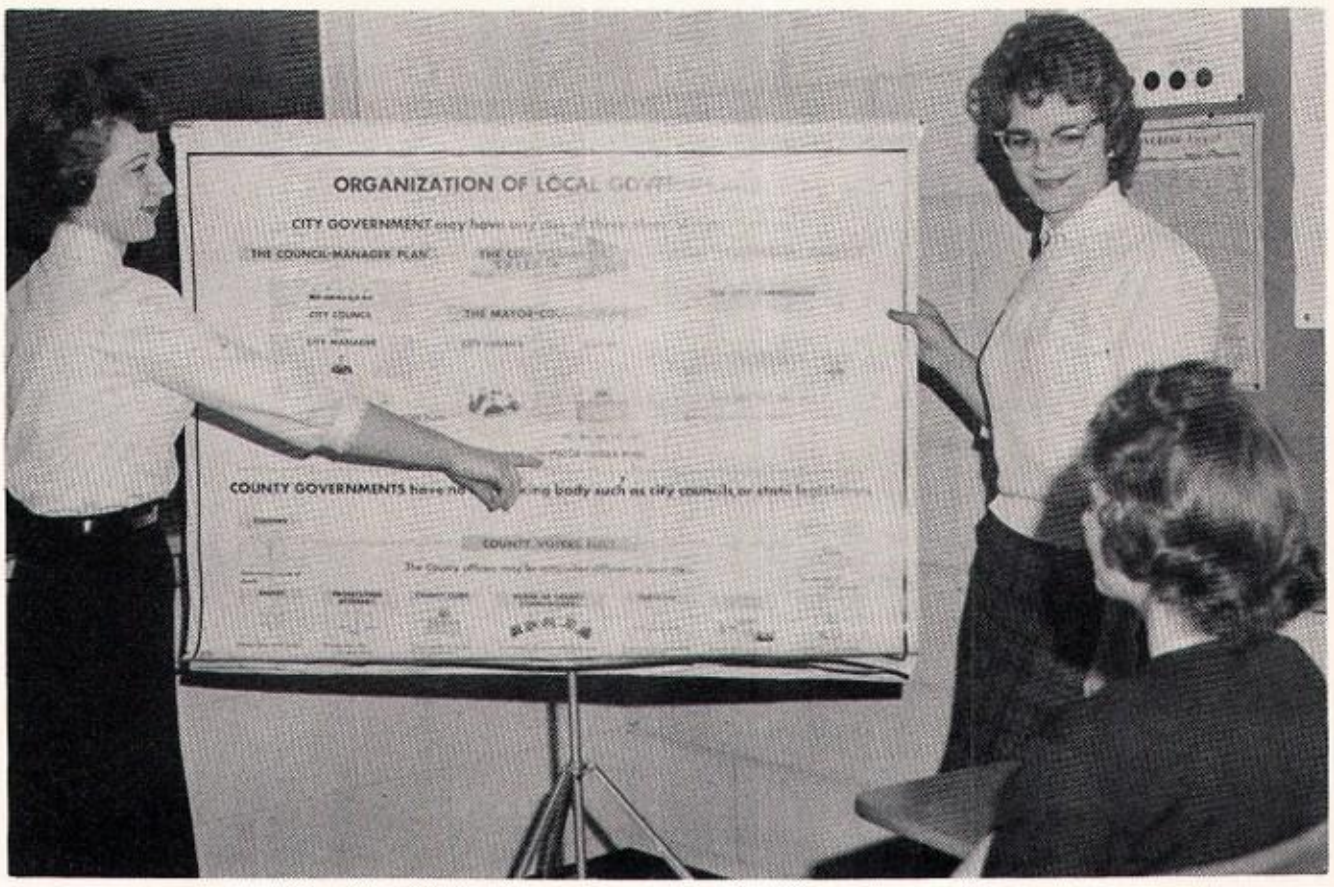
GOOD WORK GO HAND IN HAND

This school year being election and inaugural year too, made it easier for upper classmen to understand their lessons on U. S. History and government.

History and civics students learned how to use a voting machine and held a mock election.

Mr. David Bartlow, the history teacher, took the civics students to Anderson where they saw the man who was to become the thirty-fifth President of the United States.

Shown below are three of the "F" period civics students commenting on the charts made for local government study. They are Linda Nacoff, Kay Freeman, and Judy Shaw (seated).



Linda says, "Now this is the way it is done here, isn't it, Kay? Well, isn't it? Or is it?"

THE MARCHING BAND AND ROBED CHOIR

GAVE INSPIRATIONAL CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The choir, band, and dramatics club of Frankton High School combined their efforts in the production of the annual Christmas program that was presented in the school gymnasium on Sunday, December 18, 1960. This year the program was a choral pageant called "This Is Christmas" preceded by three numbers by the band. Mr. Robert Barker, Music teacher, directed the band and choir while Mr. Sterrett Nash coached the actors and actresses behind the set.

After the mood was set for each scene by the narrator, Wayne Ousley, the choir sang carols with the accompainment of Jean Hutchison while the dramatics club members portrayed the scenes in pantomine.

For those who were unable to attend the Sunday afternoon performance, the choir and dramatics club presented their part of the program for the whole student body before Christmas vacation.

WONDE

ACTIVITIES

HIGH SCHOOLERS ENJOY MARDI GRAS BUT

The court have just taken their places on the colorful platform after the coronation of King Rex of the 1960 Mardi Gras.

King Rex Richwine and Queen Henderson beam after Coronation.

Some students attend the Mardi Gras to watch the coronation and enjoy the entertainment while others go to eat and dance.

Whatever the reason, most students dress in party attire and come all decked out in boutonniers and corsages. It is perhaps, the biggest event of the year for underclassmen.

The food really does look good, doesn't it, Mrs. Kerkhoff?

JUNIORS AND SENIORS ATTEND PROM

Of course, the Banquet-Prom includes eating by candle light.

Juniors are the hosts for the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. They make reservations for meals and the band, and provide the entertainment and decorations.

The 1960 Prom was held at the Top Hat near Muncie. Music for dancing was provided by "The Vests" and the theme of the evening was centered around an Hawaiian atmosphere.

Accompained by Sarah Hiday, Elaine Mauck sings "Blue Hawaii".

Host Bob Mills greets guest Cook Mitchell with brilliant lei.

Sr. and Jr. Sponsors look "real gone Hawaiian" before scene.

At a meeting of the Student Council, the photographer caught President Craig presiding.

Each year the Student Council sponsors the Mardi Gras in the spring. This year they also sponsored the "Winter Wonderland Dance" that was held during the Christmas vacation.

Of course, their main purpose is to help co-ordinate affairs between students and faculty. David Bartlow advises the group.

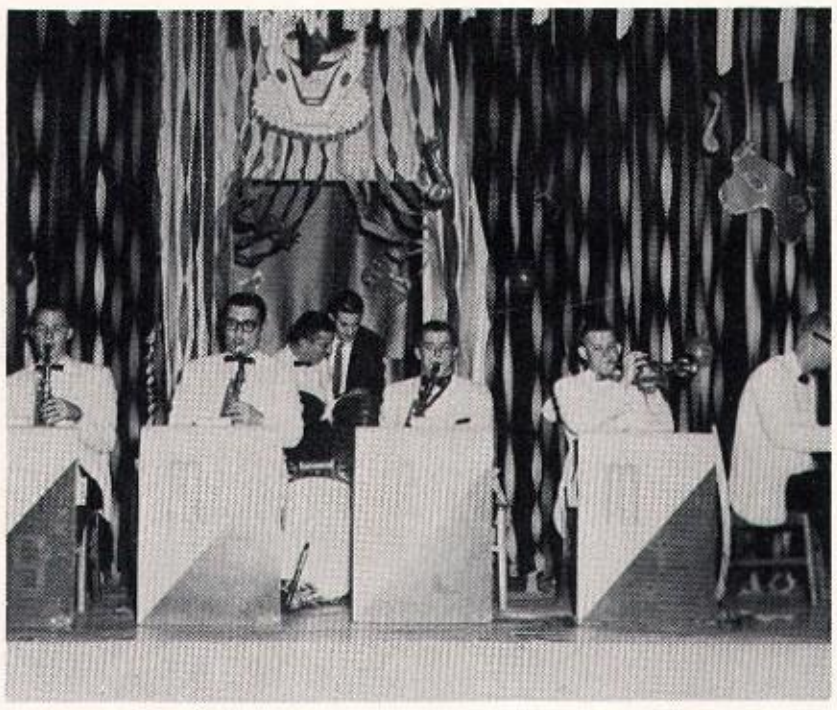
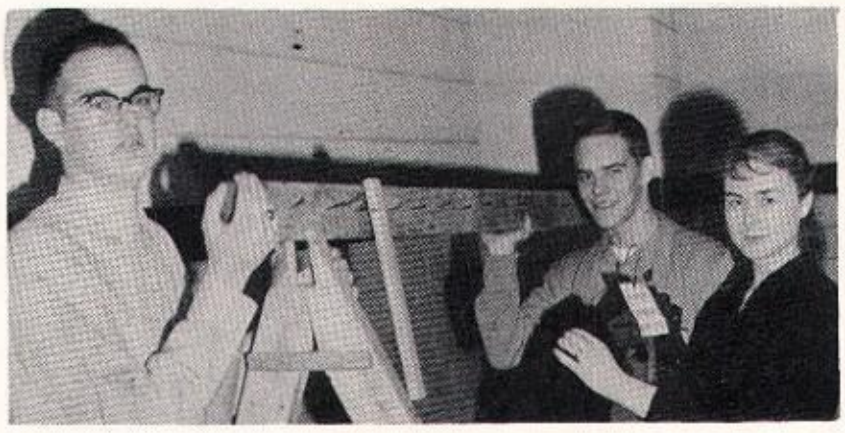
STUDENT COUNCIL AND HONOR SOCIETY

Senior boys formed a quartet to provide some entertainment.

Mike Shipley's band from Anderson rendered the dance music.



Honor Society members are all decked out in big blue ribbons.



Officers assemble the coat check racks to use at a ballgame.

MEMBERS ARE TO BE EXEMPLARY

Part of the Societies services to the school have been the coat check at ball games and ushering guests at school affairs.

The fountain which sets in the front hall was purchased by the group.

During the Christmas season the members were responsible for a tree and its decoration.

At the fall induction there were four girls admitted into the society. Mr. Heniser was given an honorary membership.

Fall inductees were Carol Mock, Alma Friend, Mr. Heniser, Lynnette Smith, and Sue Fesler.

A description of these folk after their return from soliciting would be exhausted, famished, weary, and maybe disgusted.

ONE EAGLITE AND SIX GOLDEN EAGLES

Picture placement in a yearbook can be a serious problem.

A yearbook would not be possible if it weren't for those who spend many hours seeking advertising from business establishments in this area.

Their work begins in July or August. They meet some evening to learn how to approach an advertising manager and what to do with his ad when received.

Long after the solicitors complete their work the staff is still going strong-working until March.

The staff includes Karel Crowley, subcription manager; Ted McCord, junior editor; Helen Sayer, editor; and Keith Cooper, business manager. Sterrett Nash sponsors the group.

These seniors were responsible for getting the news to all the students. They were the editors.

REPRESENT LOTS OF TIME & HARD WORK

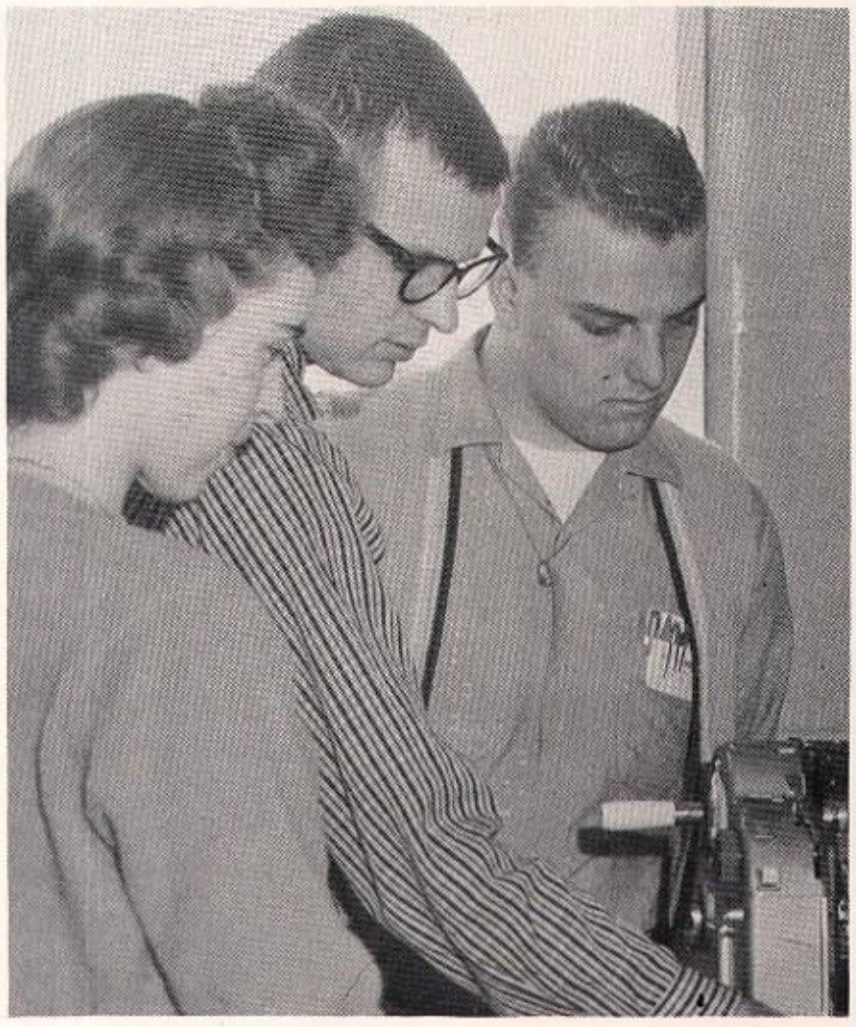
Proving the theory that experience is the best teacher, part of Mr. Ted Harbit's students put out six issues of the Golden Eagle with each issue showing improvement.

Putting out a school newspaper to meet the needs of "wants" of a student body of some 360 pupils is no easy task. Ideas for news items must be thought out and then be written and many times rewritten before they are ready to be presented to a typist to put into dummy form. After a dummy is prepared, the material must then be put onto a stencil and made ready for the duplicating of the paper.

An advertising staff must solicit businessmen for ads then the copy must be written and the ad cut on the mimeo-scope. After all stencils are cut and the pages duplicated, they must be put in order and stapled together. Distribution of copies to subscribers and to those who purchase single copies, no small task, requires much of a full period.

Students who served as editors this year were Ginger Jackson, Max Moody, Linda Welborn, Wanda Prince, Carol King, and Barb Jack.

A Gestetner is used to duplicate pages of the school paper.



CREATE, MAINTAIN AND EXTEND HIGH

The members of the new Hi-Y Club pictured have been fairly active during the 60-61 school year. The six boys in the bottom of the "Y" formation were elected as officers at the beginning of the year after a constitution was accepted.

As a service project the Hi-Y Club worked with Tri-Hi-Y Club in a bundle drive for clothes to send to needy persons in mountain regions.

To develop a greater unity in the club and to take advantage of the schools facilities, and intramural sports system was organized for the club members.

Each month all the officers who can possibly make it go to the Y.M.C.A. in Anderson to a County Youth Council meeting. Here problems of this and other Y.M.C.A. affiliated clubs iron out their individual problems.

A debate on the topic of "going steady" was held with the Tri-Hi-Y Club, and many points of logic were brought out in the discussion.

Front row - Wayne Ousley, Vice-President; and Gary Dazell, President. Second row - Ted McCord, Secretary; and Doug Hood, Chaplain. Third row - Max Hoppel, Historian; and Dallas Curtis, Sergeant at Arms. Fourth row - Bill French, the sponsor is standing, Gary Benefiel, Dave Huth, Stan Busby, and Tom Sigler. Fifth row - Bill Lay, Dan Stigall, Tim Marsh, Fred Allender, Steve Horn, and Todd Ash. Sixth row - Tom Smith, Steve Sumner, Tim Johnson, Steve Henry, Jeff Bauer, Steve Hudson, John Smith. Seventh row - Bob Jarrett, Ronnie Swindell, Dan Barmes, Tom Orbaugh, Merrill Shaw, Fred Bryan, Gary Nash, Dan Jackson, Ed Foley, and Larry Litsy. Eighth row - Keith Cooper, Mike Jackson, Phil Rinker, Jerry Hutson, Dick McCord, Jerry Gordon, David Wessler, and Ralph Hays. Back row - Delbert Burton, Bob Dellinger, Eddie Hart, Richard Turner, James Hays, Kent Elder, Don Gilchrist, Pete Spoo, Mike Lewellen, and Dan Buckner.

STANDARDS OF CHRISTIAN CHARACTER

The girls pictured below are the founding members of the Tri-Hi-Y Club which was just started this school year.

After officers had been elected and a constitution accepted, these girls along with boys of the Hi-Y Club were inducted into their respective clubs.

Helping a needy family at Christmas and a bundle drive were among the service projects which the group performed during its first year.

Being an up-to-date club, the Tri-Hi-Y does such things as debating problems which arise in their social affairs like "going steady".

A new thing for the Frankton students was the twirp week which the girls planned.

The members pictured below are: Front row - Jennie Frazier, Historian; Carol Tommey, Secretary; Nila Huth, Chaplain; Mary Beth Hartley, Sergeant at Arms; Karel Crowley, President; Mrs. Marjorie Andrew, Advisor; Sandra Conklin, Vice-President; Gloria Hertle, Treasurer. Second row - Marilyn Samuels, Ginger Jackson, Helen Sayre, Betty Ashton, Nancy Fields, Janet Cain, Charlie Stettner, and Clara Sturbois. Third row - Barbara Jack, Joyce Voss, Nancy Hays, Mary Baker, Carol Swackhamer, Elaine Mauck, Lorraine Bouslog, and Barb Sigler. Fourth row - Wanda Prince, Linda Welborn, Judy Blaylock, Penny Lennis, Bette Mitchell, Nancy Parker, Pat Tinsley, Tonda Whitson, Temple Barnes, and Marilyn Harrison. Fifth row - Judy Daugherty, Sue Foley, Karen McElfresh, Melanie Paddock, Ann Heath, Gloria Blair, Andrea Seely, Rhoda Fry, Sally John, and Sandra Cunningham. Sixth row - Joan Collier, Paula Starr, Brenda Pruett, Susan Beidelschies, Nancy Watkins, Jean Hutchison, Carol Shirley, Gloria McRoberts, Marilyn Ryan, and Becky Hartsock. Seventh row - Kathy Prieshaff, Xeneclea Mathews, Janet McCarty, Kathy Brown, Carolyn Shephard, Gloria Cook, Carol Giselbach, Wanda Jones, Rugh Head, and Karen Humphery. Back row - Ginger Welborn, Melissa Shuck, Sandra Hart, Mary Lambertson, Shirley Fletcher, Kay Chism, Shirley Smith, and Mary Ann Wethington.

A NEWLY FORMED "DRAMATIS PERSONAE"

Officers Wayne Ousley, Karel Crowley, and Helen Sayre set up scenery for an outdoor set.

The newly formed Dramatics Club is made up of those taking and interested in dramatics.

Therefore, the members of dramatics class will give plays to replace the junior class play in the spring. The Dramatics Club will provide props, scenery, etc.

HELP THOSE INTERESTED IN DRAMATICS

"So Very Young", a three-act comedy, was presented by the senior class on Friday, October 14, 1960, in the gymnasium.

The "So Very Young" cast included Bette Mitchell, a very young bride; Helen Sayre, an old maid; Jim Hays, the kid next door; Wayne Ousley, the hero; and Mike Jackson; his millionaire uncle. They are pictured above.

In the bottom picture is the Chambers family who were caught before the play which showed that the younger set aren't always as young as they are believed to be. Shown as Mr. Chambers is Gary Dalzell; his wife, Karel Crowley; their older daughter, Nancy Parker; his Aunt Kate, Janet Cain; and their "baby", Judy Blake.

Even though junior class plays were dropped, the seniors continue to have theirs in the fall.

Emma Alspaugh sponsors the Bookworms, a club for student librarians and those interested in the library.

EXTRACURRICULAR STUDY ADDS SPECIAL

Thirteen hour days aren't uncommon for these two.

Although the Bookworms, the ex-Library Anns, was one of the new clubs organized this year, it does not meet on Tuesdays that are set aside for club meetings. They meet at different times so that they may more fully carry out the purposes of the club which are to sponsor a greater interest among the students in the use of books and library service, to stimulate reading interest, and to imporve the library service of the school.

The members are from left to right: Ralph Hays, Larry Litsey, Nancy Parker, Carole Sue Davis (Vice-president), Mary Jane Baker, Mary Faye Richwine, Dixie Heaton, Lorraine Bouslog, Bette Mitchell, Penny Lennis, and Nancy Fields (President). Back row: Gloria Cook, Susan Beidelschies, Andrea Seely, Marsha Jarvis, Karen McElfresh, Carol Sarson, Maribeth Whetsel, Karla Ehman, and Kathy Lee. Those not pictured are Molly Brown, Joan Collier, Mary Lambertson, Nancy Prewett, Mary Shipley, Charlie Stettner (Secretary-treasurer), and David Wessler.

Another couple who help the students are Carl Henderson, Superintendent of Grounds, and his wife, Lena, Matron. They are responsible for keeping paper off the floor, shoveling snow in the winter, mowing the lawn in the summer, and in general, keeping the building in good condition.

Home Economics Club Officers use the only man(ikin) in the department to learn how to fit a suit jacket.

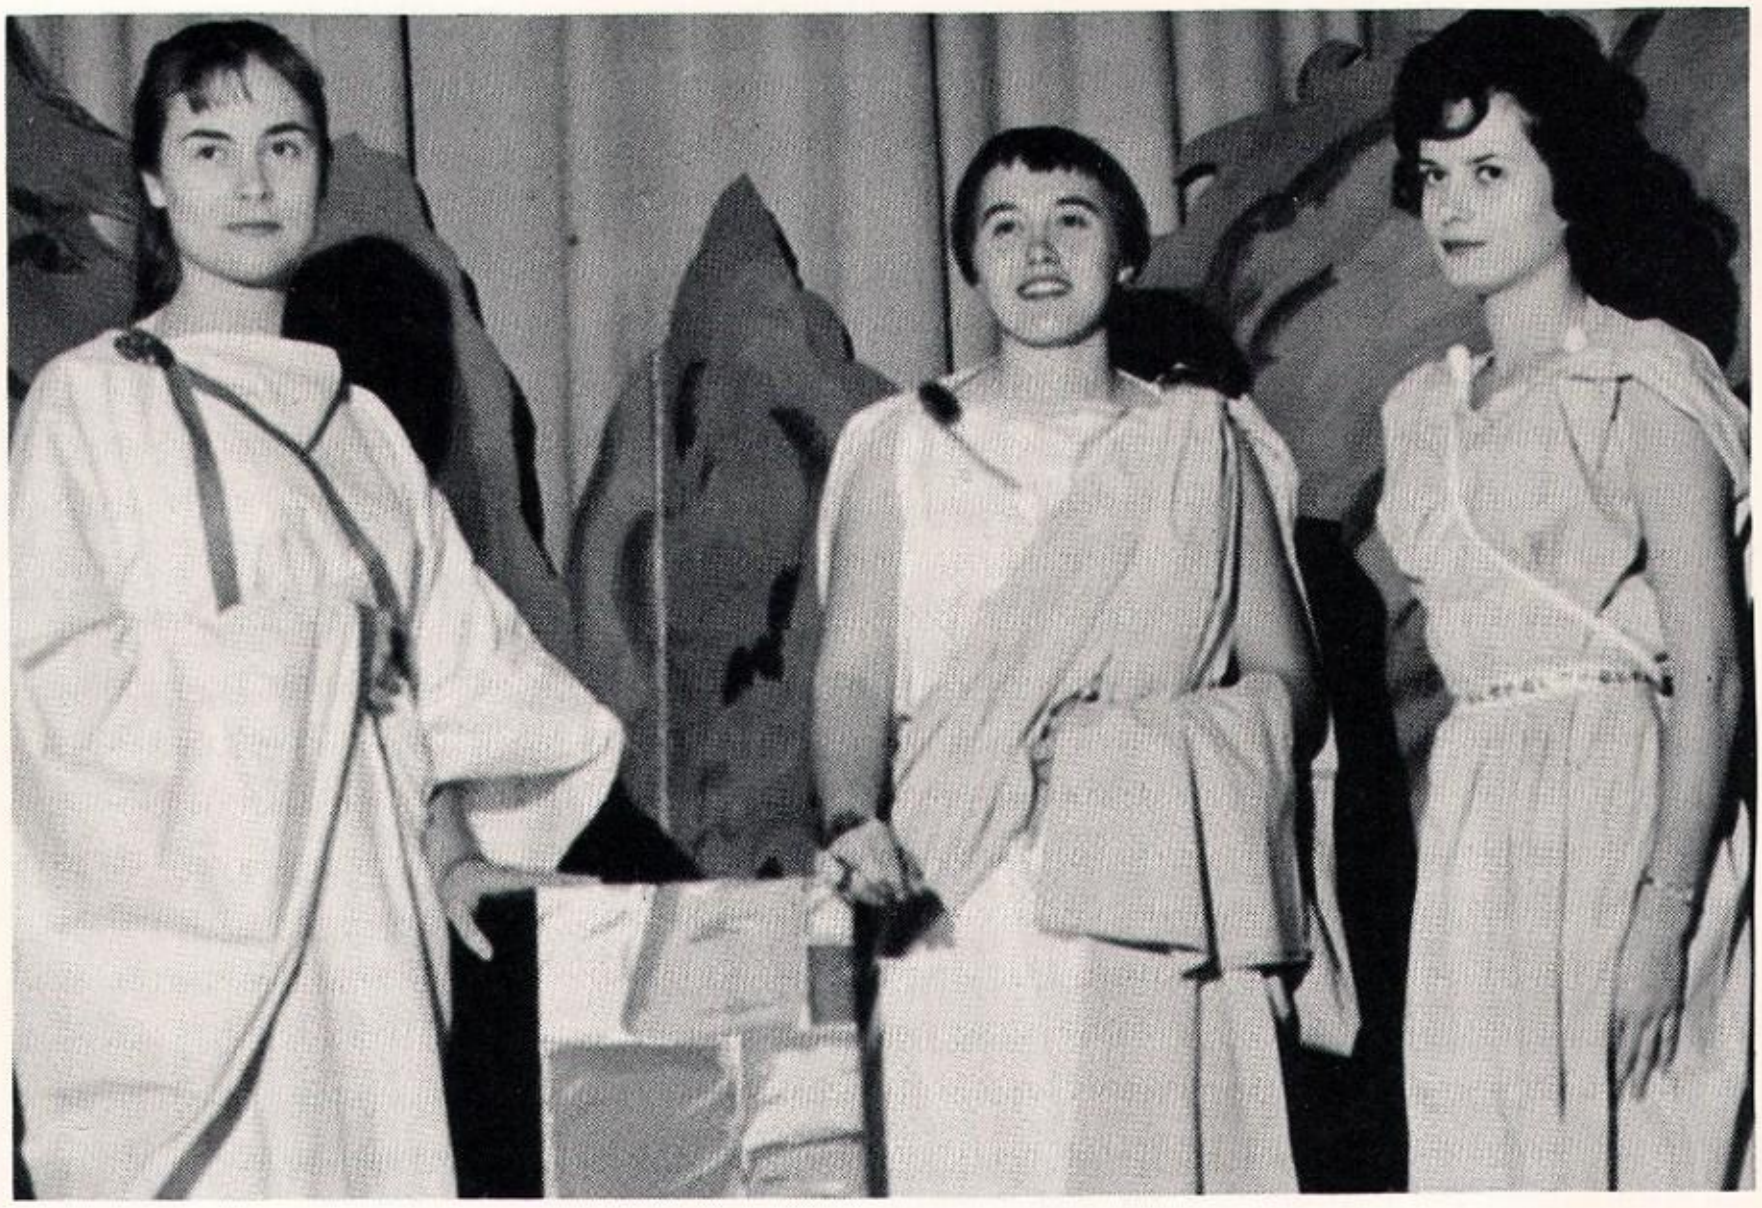
EMPHASIS TO COMMON, EVERYDAY STUDY

The Home Economics Club is another one of the new clubs that was orgainzed this year. During the first semester, the club was divided into two interest groups. One was called the "Beauty Clinic" of which Karla Ehman was the chairlady. The other was the "Needlecraft", and Judy Blaylock was its chairlady. Each group did various activities, had films, speakers and demonstrations on their particular interest. Sometimes those in the "Beauty Clinic" practiced "making up each other". The sewing group made fancy pillow tops before Christmas.

The officers are pictured above and are Wanda Jones, Treasurer; Karen Taylor, Secretary; Elaine Mauch, Sergeant at Arms Linda Welborn, President; and Karla Ehman, Vice-president. These girls are looking over a display which shows how to put an interfacing in a jacket.

The second semester the girls chose their own projects and worked on them during the meeting time. In the picture at the right Marilyn Bowers, Home Ec. Club sponsor, and Janet Jarrett, who was the Home Ec. student teacher the second semester, advise Carol King and Sheliah Atchison about the project that they should choose for the second semester.

Miss Janet Jarrett and Miss Bowers discuss club projects.



The Latin Club Banquet is a time for students to dress as the Romans did in togas, stolas, pallas, and lots of jewelry.

LANGUAGE CLUBS ENCOURAGE STUDY OF

Each year the Latinus Socitas hold a Roman Banquet in the school cafeteria. This is the main event of the year, and is especially nice affair for the members. Not only do the members attend, but they invite the alumni who still attend Frankton.

They usually serve a typical Roman dinner with grapes, olives, fresh fruits, and vegetables. For entertainment they sell slaves and play games.

In the picture above Sandra Conklin wears the outfit that she wore to last year's banquet. It has a border around it as a Roman senator would have worn many centuries ago. Although women and the people of the lower class weren't allowed to wear the bordered toga, it shows one of the different types of clothing worn in the days of the Roman Empire. Clara Sturbois models a typical Roman lady's attire. She has on the palla (undergarment) with the draped stola around her. Charlie Stettner is wearing a palla with the braided trim.

This year the group went to homes in the community and caroled in both Latin and English. They sang "Silent Night", "Jingle Bells", "O Little Town of Bethleham", "O Come All Ye Faithful", and "We Wish You A Merry Christmas" in the language that is commonly called dead. The members donated nuts, candies, and cookies that were put onto plates and left at the homes where they caroled.

Officers of the club are Sarah Hiday, President; Susan Brown, Vice-president; and Mary Prince, Secretary-treasurer.

Awaiting other officers' O. K. Bloria McRoberts holds the constitution that was adopted before the club's organization.

COUNTRIES, CUSTOMS, AND HABITS

This year was the first since 1956 and 1957 that another language besides Latin had been offered in the foreign language department. When something new shows up, there is always an urge to try it. So about sixty students enrolled in the two French classes.

Seventeen of these students joined the new French Club which meets every other Tuesday or as the activity period allows. During these meetings, reports are given on the country of France and its people. Many of the members write to other boys and girls who live in France or its colonies. Their letters are sometimes discusses in the meetings. To add a little spark to the day, refreshments were served at a few meetings.

Because of the terrible weather around Christmas time, the club's Christmas party was cancelled.

The members of the club ordered pins. They are oblong with gold lettering on black enamel. These have been standardized for this year and those following as the French Club pin of Frankton.

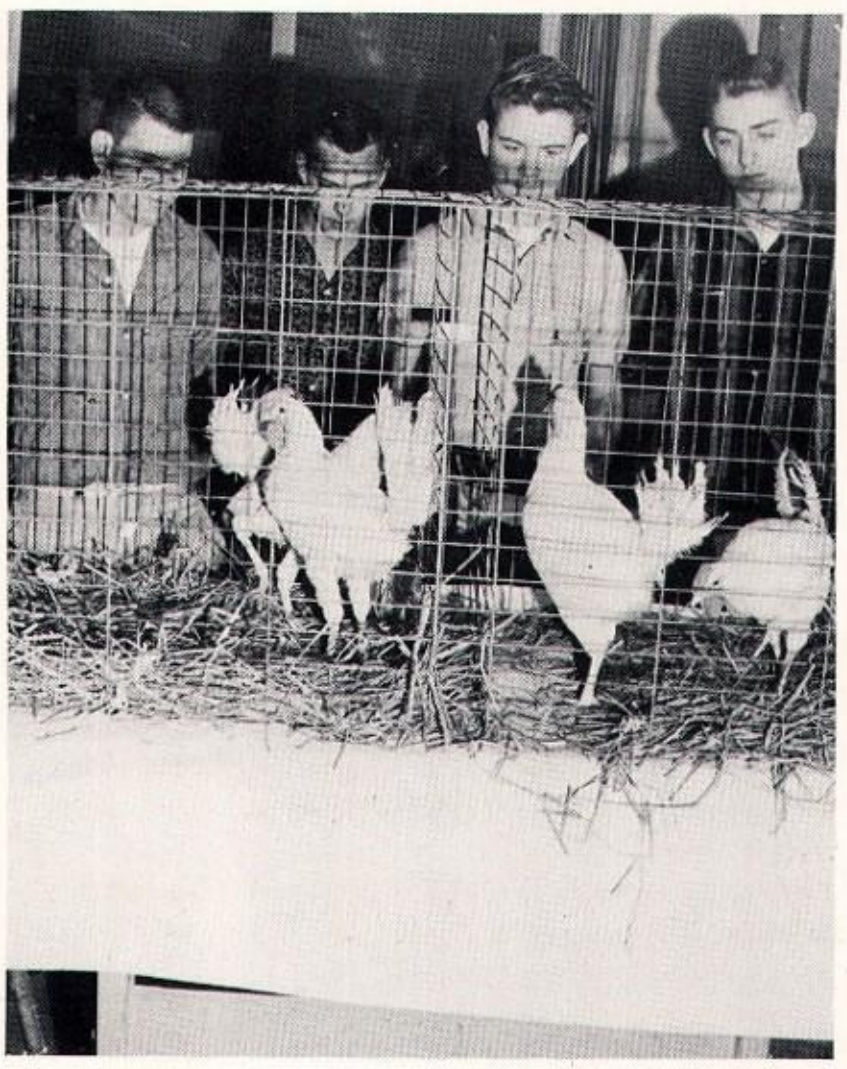
The F.F.A. officers are looking over information concerning new club jackets and other items available for club members.

FUTURE FARMERS STUDY FOWL AND FARMS

Ag boys work in teams to prepare for poultry judging.



The Future Farmers of America, a national organization for boys taking vocational agriculture in high school, holds its meetings bi-weekly in the agriculture room. These meetings usually contain the discussion of the club business. Second year members, required to report on phases of farming, must read reports before club members during one of these meetings.

Throughout the year the F.F.A. sold several items to raise funds for their activities. One of these is the Father-Son Banquet in the spring. This gives the fathers opportunity to observe some the activities of their sons during the year. The club profits are used for the annual trip to the Indianopolis Stock Yards, packing plants, and other points of interest in the city.

During the winter these future farmers try their hand at basketball. In competition with other F.F.A. clubs of the county, our boys always seem to come out on top--usually by a large margin.

SUE FESLER, QUEEN

After the soliciting of advertising, there came the big job of selling subscriptions to the 1961 Eaglite. The seniors set their sales goal at 600 copies. They fell short of this goal, but nevertheless, they picked a group of four girls to represent their class as candidates for the 1961 yearbook queen.

The system of selecting girls to run for queen was changed from last year in that all four girls were seniors instead of having one candidate from each class.

During the two week sales campaign, persons who brought the subscriptions to the book were entitled to vote for one of these girls as their pick for queen.

Time and counting revealed that Sue Fesler had won the contest. The other candidates were Judy Shaw, Darlene Jarvis, and Judy Blake.

Sue was crowned at the convocation which was held when the yearbooks arrived. The other girls were also given recognition.

ENTHUSIASTIC FACES ARE CHEERING

Cheerleaders Nancy Hays, Nancy Watkins, Alma Friend, and Sue Fesler lead yells when the varsity team is on the floor.

From the vigorous times of leading the pep club and student body in the various yells to the times when they hush the cries of the disappointed spectators, these six girls often seem to do as much exercising as the ball players.

Last summer the varsity cheerleading attended a cheerleading camp at Syracuse, Indiana to learn more about cheerleading.

The girls placed second in both daily and final competition.

B-Team Cheerleading is taken over by Mary Faye Richwine and Carole Sue Davis.

The Eagle B-team's fine balanced squad had compiled a record of 9 wins and 6 losses with three games yet to be played. Pictured above: Kent Ehman, Gary Benefirl, Jim Allen, Muff Davis, coach, Stan Busby, Jeff Bauer, Bill Jarrett. Front row: Bill Lay, manager, Steve Sumner, Leon Ebert, and Dan Stigall, manager.

Little Eagles finish a fine season by only losing once in 15 games and winning the Frankton Freshman Tourney.

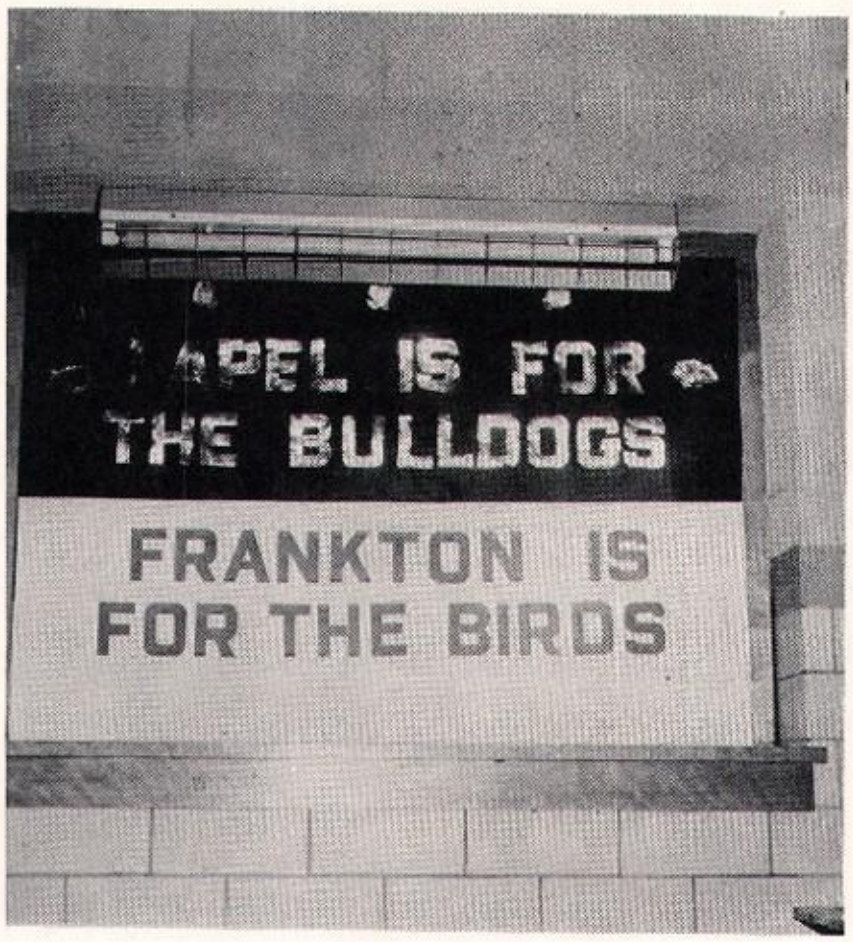
The players in the picture above are the members of the squad that finished with a grand record. They are Coach Paul Davis, Butch Condon, Dennis Smith, Jerry Waltermire, Larry Waltermire, George Heady, and Danny Swart, manager. Front row: Bruce Stevens, Darrel Ryan, Gary Nash, Tom Mauck, and Frank Gosnell.

Frances Brizendine and Sandra Hart encourage the team.

This year a new mascot was brought to F.H.S. The Golden Eagle, now mounted in a cage on the north wall of the gym, was presented to the school by Herschel Newton who killed the bird when it attacked his head of sheep. Mr. Newton formally presented the bird at a ballgame.

Lee Craig, student council president, accepted the bird from Mr. Newton for the school and in turn gave it to Mr. Heniser who promised Mr. Newton that it would be properly taken care of.

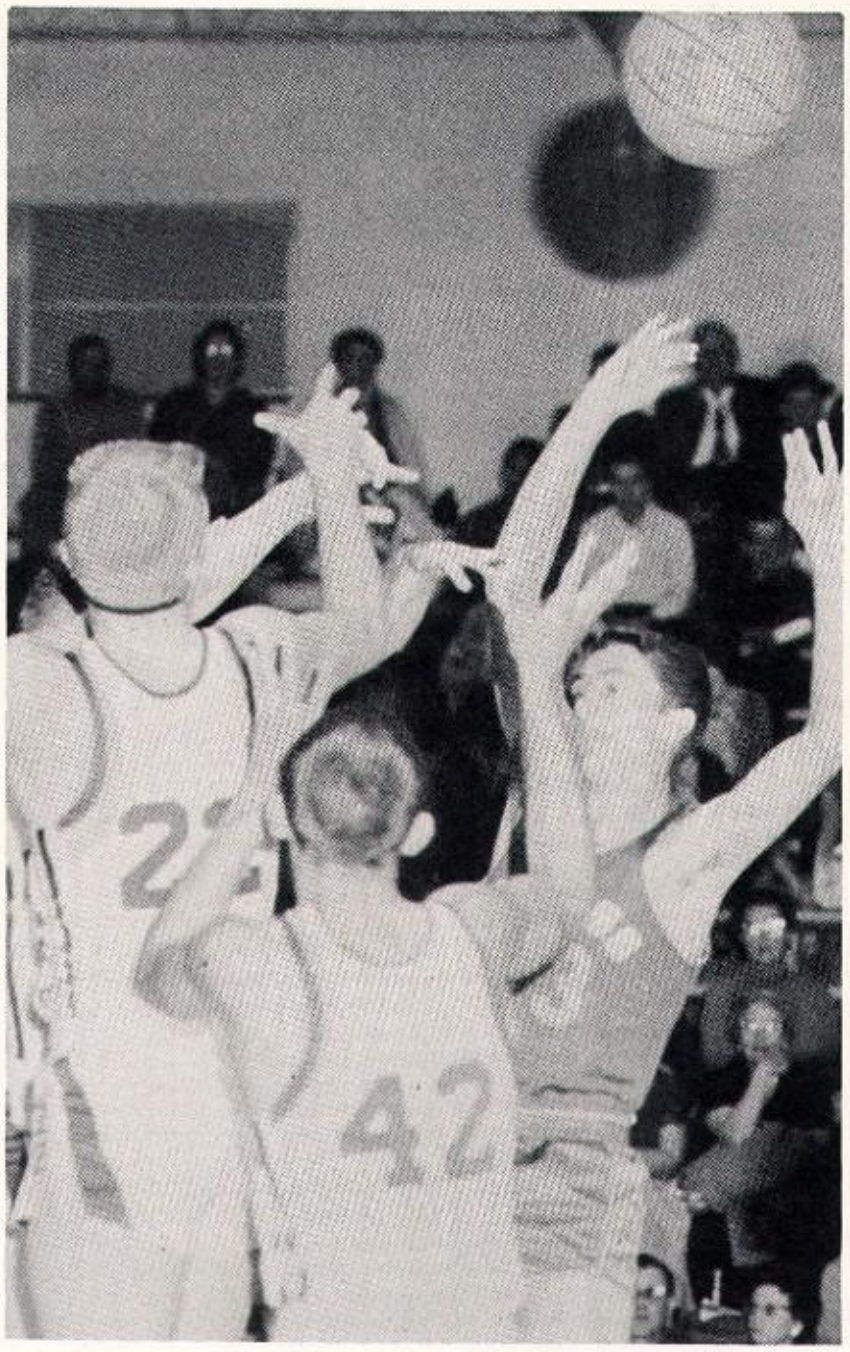
Coach Davis, Tom Faucett, and Tom Heady admire the Freshman Tourney Championship Trophy which they won December 17.



This didn't come true as the Frankton Birds defeated the Bulldog's decisively by 12 points.

Gary Dalzell is ahead as he clears the second hurdle in a track meet held last spring.

Steve Hudson tries to block a shot by Petty of the Vikings.



Which pair of hands will wind up with the ball.

Dallas Curtis scores two points as he goes in for a layup.

EAGLES TAKE SECOND IN CONFERENCE

EAGLES WIN 13 WHILE DROPPING 11

Clear the way! Here comes the Eagles' big Dallas Curtis around third and he's pushing for home.

SOME STUDENTS GO ON VACATIONS

You tried, Butch, but it's plain that you're out!

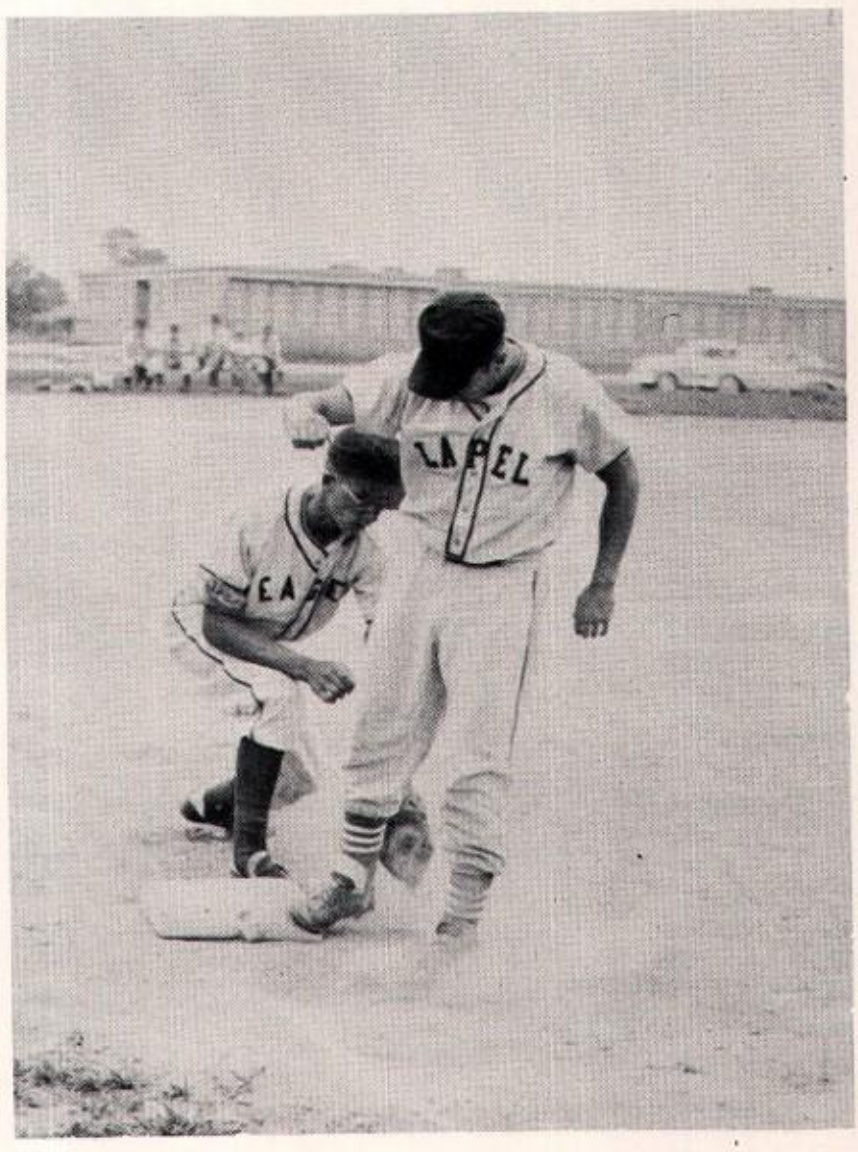
Undoubtedly, Stan will make it to third safely.

While the Bulldogs "warm-up", Coach Paul Davis gathers the team around him for their last minute instructions.

OR SWIMMING, WHILE ATHLETES TRAIN

Dalzell stops for a quick look around the diamond.

Butch Noble doesn't make it to first this time.



PERSONALITIES

"YOU CANNOT TEACH A MAN ANYTHING, YOU CAN ONLY HELP HIM TO FIND IT WITHIN HIMSELF"

Mr. Heniser and Mr. Kerkhoff talk over the day's events as Mrs. Andrew tries to help Jim with his many problems.

The Guidance department of F.H.S. consists of Gene Heniser, Principal, Marjorie Andrew, Dean of Girls, and Gorden Kerkhoff, Dean of Boys. This department has given many tests this year to bring their records up to date and have the results to help students with their problems. Some of these tests were to find hidden interests, discover ability, and search for personality traits that could be helped.

Through these folk, juniors and seniors are able to receive information from the colleges and scholarships for which they plan to apply.

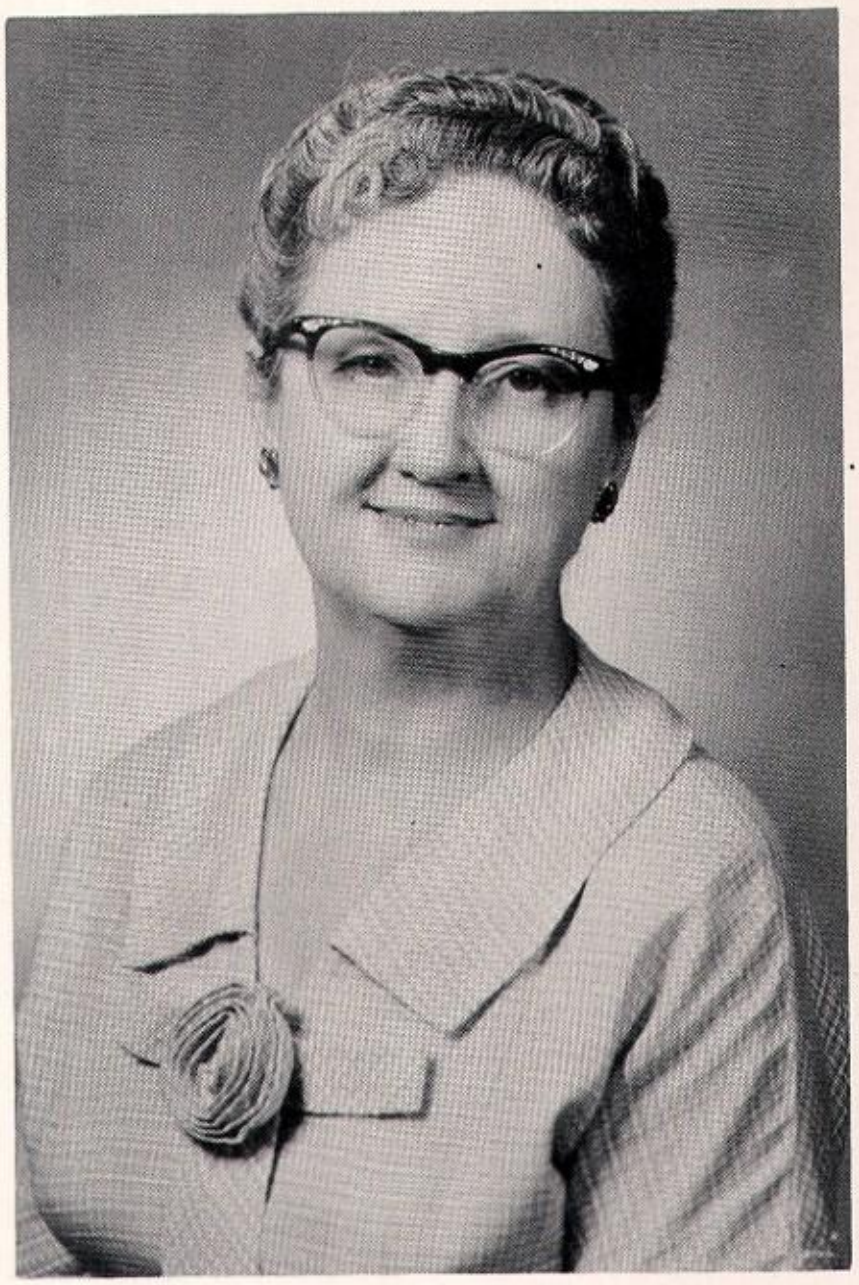
GENE HENISER, PRINCIPAL

Having been junior high principal last summer when the position of high school principal was vacant, Gene Heniser was given the appointment.

He had very few days to get organized, but soon after school began, he managed to get himself, the faculty, and the student body into the full swing of things.

Mr. Heniser resides at 405 East Plum Street with his wife Joan and their daughters Janet and Barbara.



MARGUERITE MILLER, REGISTRAR

Marguerite Miller, F. H. S. Registrar, has been working in the Pipe Creek Township schools for 10 years. Her duties are many. She is responsible for the filing, typing and reporting handled through the office.

WALDO CANADAY, TRUSTEE

Waldo E. Canaday, trustee, has served Pipecreek Township either as trustee or clerk for 19 years. His work does not begin at 8:10 and end at 3:10, but he is called upon nearly all hours of the day and night.

Our new teachers are exploring the building so that they will become acquainted with it. They are: Doris Waymire, Majorie Andrew, Joyce Koehn, and David Bartlow.

Mrs. Waymire is the head of the math department.

Mrs. Andrew teaches a home economics course. Being the Dean of girls and director of the cafeteria keep her busy.

Mrs. Koehn keeps juniors posted on English and literature, which she teaches. She is also the teacher of French and sponsor of the French Club.

Mr. Bartlow teaches U. S. History, U. S. Civics, a class of bookkeeping, and sponsors the student council.

"LEARN AS THO YOU WERE TO LIVE FOREVER, LIVE AS THO YOU WERE TO DIE TOMORROW"

The Senior Class officers appear to be studying the library's new books, but then we can't see behind the display sign!

The officers of the Senior Class of 1961 are pictured above in the library. They are Elaine Floyd, Secretary; Linda Welborn, Vice-President; Sis Heller, Treasurer, and Phil Rinker, Business Manager.

In the fall of 1957 students from Jackson and Lafayette Townships joined Pipe Creek Twp. students in the old building to begin their high school education.

Nineteen fifty-nine marked the movement of high schoolers to the new building and this class took the honor of being the first juniors in this building.

One distinction the seniors have is to have been the sponsor of the only class-sponsored semi-formal dance. Their Sweetheart Dance was held February 13, 1960, in the cafeteria with the "Bubles" from Madison Heights providing the music. The guests were served punch and cookies during intermission.

"Blue Hawaii" was the theme of the Junior Senior Prom given in honor of the 1960 graduating class by the class of 1961. The Top Hat near Muncie was decorated with cocoanut palms, typical Hawaiian backdrops, and leis were presented to the guests as they entered the door. The group danced to the music of the "Vests" from Muncie.

The class chose Columbia blue and white as it's class colors, and the red carnation as its flower.

On May 26, 1961, the class (now dwindled to eighty members) graduated from Frankton High School in fifth avenue gray robes with red and white tassels. The next morning they left on busses for an eight day trip to Washington D. C. and New York City.

Solicitors, Bette Mitchell, Nancy Parker, and Judy Blaylock plan their attack as the advertising campaign got under way early in August.

ADVERTISING

"We're bushed!" says Nancy Parker, shoe in hand, as the three high salesmen return from their two day campaign. Business manager Keith Cooper receives agreements, money, etc., from the tired, but happy three-some. .

"TOM"

So a little 7th grader!
like I'd always remember!!
Too bad I'll be leaving you.
Have fun in the 8th grade!
